

East Lyme Chooses WPCS for Advanced Wireless Network

EXTON, PA - (PR Newswire - First Call) - May 7, 2008 WPCS International Incorporated (NASDAQ: WPCS), a leader in design-build engineering services for specialty communication systems and wireless infrastructure, has announced that through its New England Communications Systems (NECS) subsidiary, it has been selected by The Town of East Lyme, Connecticut to provide an advanced wireless network for the town-wide mission critical public safety initiative.

The project consists of the design and deployment of a five channel wireless system that focuses on the communication requirements in the town of East Lyme for voice communications, wireless video surveillance and supervisory control and data acquisition (SCADA) for water safety and sewer operations. The network will be controlled by an advanced communications dispatch center and supported by a wireless broadband communications link throughout the town. The contract is valued at approximately $1.3 million.

Myron Polulak, president of WPCS/NECS, commented, "East Lyme is unique in its total commitment to public safety for its citizens and visitors. The town has always looked for ways to deploy comprehensive communication capabilities and with the implementation of this wireless network it has taken a leadership role in advanced communications technology for public safety applications. WPCS/NECS is pleased to be selected for this important project and we look forward to providing the highest level of service and support."
